Clio Man Dies In Accident

One man was killed and his passenger was injured on Saturday, July 28, when the driver failed to negotiate a curve and rolled over several times.

Blake Allen Vernon, 22, of Clio, was killed when he was thrown from the vehicle he was driving. Thomas Duncan, 22, of Flint, remained inside the vehicle during the accident sustaining only minor injuries. He was taken to Grayling Mercy Hospital by Frederic Ambulance.

The accident occurred at about 5:12 a.m. approximately one mile east of White Road on County Road 612 in Maple Forest Township.

When officers of the Crawford County Sheriff Dept. and Michigan State Police of Gaylord arrived at the scene, they found both men outside the vehicle. Alcohol may have been a factor in the accident.

The accident remains under investigation.

5 Local Races Head August 7 Ballot

Crawford County voters will have the opportunity to help decide the outcome of several contested primary races when they go to the polls on Tuesday, August 7.

Besides five local party nomination contests, two for county commissioner, one for road commissioner, and two precinct delegate races, the ballot will also contain five other primary races for governor, state legislative, and U.S. Congressional offices.

In local races, Republicans, incumbent Jeannette J. Kitchen and Dennis J. Long, will both be seeking their party's nomination for the District 1 seat on the Board of Commissioners. Winner of the primary will run unopposed in the November General Election.

Incumbent William C. Coy and Brian Hulbert are both seeking the Republican nomination for the District 6 seat on the Board of Commissioners. Winners of this race will face Democratic candidate, Larkin Baker, in November.

Incumbent Gloria N. Kraus and George Emerson are running for the Republican nomination for the Crawford County Road Commission. Winner of this race will also be unopposed in the November General Election.

There are two Republican precinct delegate primary races. In precinct 701, Joseph Murphy, Arthur V. Carlson, Arthur R. Thayer, Harold Golnick, David R. Sabin, and Larry F. Mc-

Namara are all seeking three available positions.

Patricia Thomas, Susan Kulick, Carolyn Boone and Kenneth L. Eggert are seeking the Republican nomination for three delegate positions in precinct 301.

In the gubernatorial primary, Republicans John Engler, of Mt. Pleasant, and John Lauve, of Grosse Pointe, are seeking their party's nod. The winner of the August primary will face incumbent Democrat James J. Blanchard, who is seeking reelection to a third term as governor.

Clark Durant, of Grosse Pointe, and Bill Schuette, of Sanford, are running for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate. This winner will face Democrat Carl Levin in November.

Democrats Joan Louise Dennison, of Owosso, and Leon Keys, of Big Rapids, are running for their party's spot for the 10th Congressional District. The winner of this race will face the Republican nominee from a field of five candidates. Richard J. Allen, of Ithaca; Dave Camp, of Midland; Al Cropsey, of DeWitt; Jim Dunn, of Roscommon, and Joseph P. Simcox, of Ithaca, are all vying for the congressional seat being vacated by Bill Schuette.

In the 103rd State Representative District, incumbent Ralph Ostling, of Roscommon, is being challenged by Barbara A. Selesky, of Frederic, for the Republican nomination. The winner will face Democrat Ellen Addington, of Ellsworth, in the General Election.

The primary winner between Democrats Marcia Gould, of Shingleton, and Sven Johnson, of Bessemer, will run against Republican Bob Davis, of Gaylord, in November.

Polling locations in Crawford County are the Beaver Creek Township Hall, Frederic Township Fire Hall, Grayling Township offices, Lovells Township Hall, Maple Forest Township Hall, South Branch Township Hall, and the Grayling City offices.

The polls will open at 7 a.m. and will remain open until 8 p.m. Profiles of local candidates in contested county races follow:

Gloria Kraus

Incumbent Gloria Kraus (R) is seeking her party's nomination for Crawford County Road Commissioner. She has served as a commissioner for 12 years and has been a resident of the county for 26 years.

Kraus owned and operated a retail business, The Village Shop, in Grayling for 15 years. She has served as a Mercy Hospital trustee for nine years, has been a member of the Chamber of Commerce (president in 1976), and was named Citizen of the Year in 1980.

Stockton, Corbin Finish Strong For Marathon Win

After a dazzling display of northern lights during the night, Brett Stockton and Serge Corbin put on their own impressive display of paddling in the morning to win $5,000 and the 43rd Annual AuSable River Canoe Marathon.

Stockton and Corbin pulled away from 2nd place finishers Bruce Barton and Solomon Carriere and 3rd place finishers Jeff Kolka and Bill Torongo in the final stretch of the 120-mile race.

Stockton and Corbin crossed the finish line at Oscoda 14 hours, 43 minutes, and 35 seconds after the LeMans-style start in Grayling on Saturday night.

Barton and Carriere came in at 14:45:06 and Kolka and Torongo 14:46:32. The three top teams exchanged the lead throughout most of the night. At the bridges and dams, the teams were usually within 20 seconds of each other.

At the last dam before the finish, Foote Dam, Barton and Carriere were paddling side by side Stockton-Corbin with Kolka-Torongo about one and a half minutes behind. Barton and Carriere pulled up at the wall before Stockton-Corbin and beat them down the long slope on the portage. Near the end of the hill, Stockton fell down and it appeared Barton-Carriere might finally gain some time on Stockton-Corbin.

Barton-Carriere had some trouble getting started in the water, though, and while they made it to the strong current below the dam first, Stockton-Corbin paddled harder and took an angle to catch up.

Once even, Stockton-Corbin stayed with them a short time before putting on a strong sprint that eventually opened up a minute and a half lead.

Brett Stockton, who holds the Marathon record time of 14:20:00 with Corbin, said at the finish line he was confident if they stayed with the leaders, they could outsprint anyone at the end.

When they set the record in 1988, Corbin-Stockton took an early lead and held it. This year, Corbin said they wanted to stay in a pack with the other top teams to have someone to talk to and make the race more fun.

The Marathon, called North America's toughest canoe race, takes a heavy toll on paddlers. Some years, as many as half of the teams entering fail to finish. This year seven of the 29 teams did not finish.

Scott McKenzie and Rick Joy, among the leaders most of the race, had to pull out at Foote Dam when McKenzie suffered severe abdominal cramps. He was taken to a hospital for observation.

Taking 4th place this year was four-time Marathon champ John Baker, 48, of Grayling, and two-time champ Jeff Kellogg, 44. Steve and Brian Krantz took 5th and Ken Kolonich, 44, and Steve Kolonich, 18, took 6th.

Grayling racers Stacey Kent and Ted Kolka took 9th. Connie Cannon, sister of Bruce and Greg Barton, took 11th with her husband Tom Cannon. They were the first mixed team to finish and it was Connie's first Marathon attempt.

Lynne Witte, the Marathon mixed-team record holder, finished 12th with Joe Johnson.

Al Widing Sr., 65, and Al Widing, Jr., 35, took 13th. Local team Don Brooks and Tim Sheldon took 15th.

Chris Steuer, of Roscommon, and Ray Quick, of Millington, won the amateur division with a time of 17:01:47.

The Grayling amateur team of Hank Feldhauser and Todd Harwood took second with a time of 17:09:09. It was the first Marathon attempt for Feldhauser and Harwood.

The local team of Carrie Trudgeon and Mike David took 4th in the amateur division. They were in second place at one time before running into a log. Their canoe didn't tip but both paddlers were knocked out of it.

For Brett Stockton, this was his 7th Marathon win. It was the 4th win for Corbin. The win moves Brett within one victory of tying Ralph Sawyer for the all-time record number of Marathon wins.

This year's Marathon had one of the biggest crowds ever at the start in Grayling. Some of the dams and bridges also had larger crowds than in past years, but accidents and other incidents were kept to a minimum with a large number of

Lovells' Heritage Days Celebrate 100+ Years

Ruth Caid, of Lovells, had the idea first. She thought the town should have some type of festival celebrating its history while the people who held the memories were still alive and able to share them.

Fred Schaibly, the Township Supervisor, got the ball rolling. In April of 1989, he invited representatives from local businesses, organizations, clubs and government, to form an ad hoc committee to plan a celebration.

But what exactly to celebrate? Bill Groff, who became the committee chairperson, says that the first Lovells railroad depot was built in 1889, but that didn't seem to call for an entire festival. The community was settled some time in the 1870s, but the precise date couldn't be pinpointed.

The committee finally decided to celebrate simply their heritage. Thus, Lovells Heritage Days, to be celebrated this Saturday and Sunday, August 4 and 5, was born.

A highlight of the celebration will be the sale of five original prints of Lovells sites, drawn by Saginaw artist William I. Snyder.

The set includes: the Kellogg School, which is still standing; Caid's Old Store, which was torn down recently; Paul's Tavern, now called Lovells Riverside Tavern; Bob's Standard Station, which now stands vacant; and the Douglas Hotel, no longer in business.

The Lovells Heritage Days Committee has ordered 100 sets of the signed and numbered prints, which will be sold at $18 for five or $4 for a single print.

The festivities will begin at 12 noon on Saturday with a parade to run on County Road 612 from Shupac Lake Road to the Township Hall. Afternoon activities, held at the hall, include baseball, bingo and special games for kids of all ages.

Demonstrations will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. in spinning, tin smithing, carving, dulcimer playing, quilting, basket making, rope making, buck sawing and several other crafts.

The National Guard will fly in a helicopter with a Bambi Bucket to be on display Saturday across the road from the Township Hall on Bud Bollman's property.

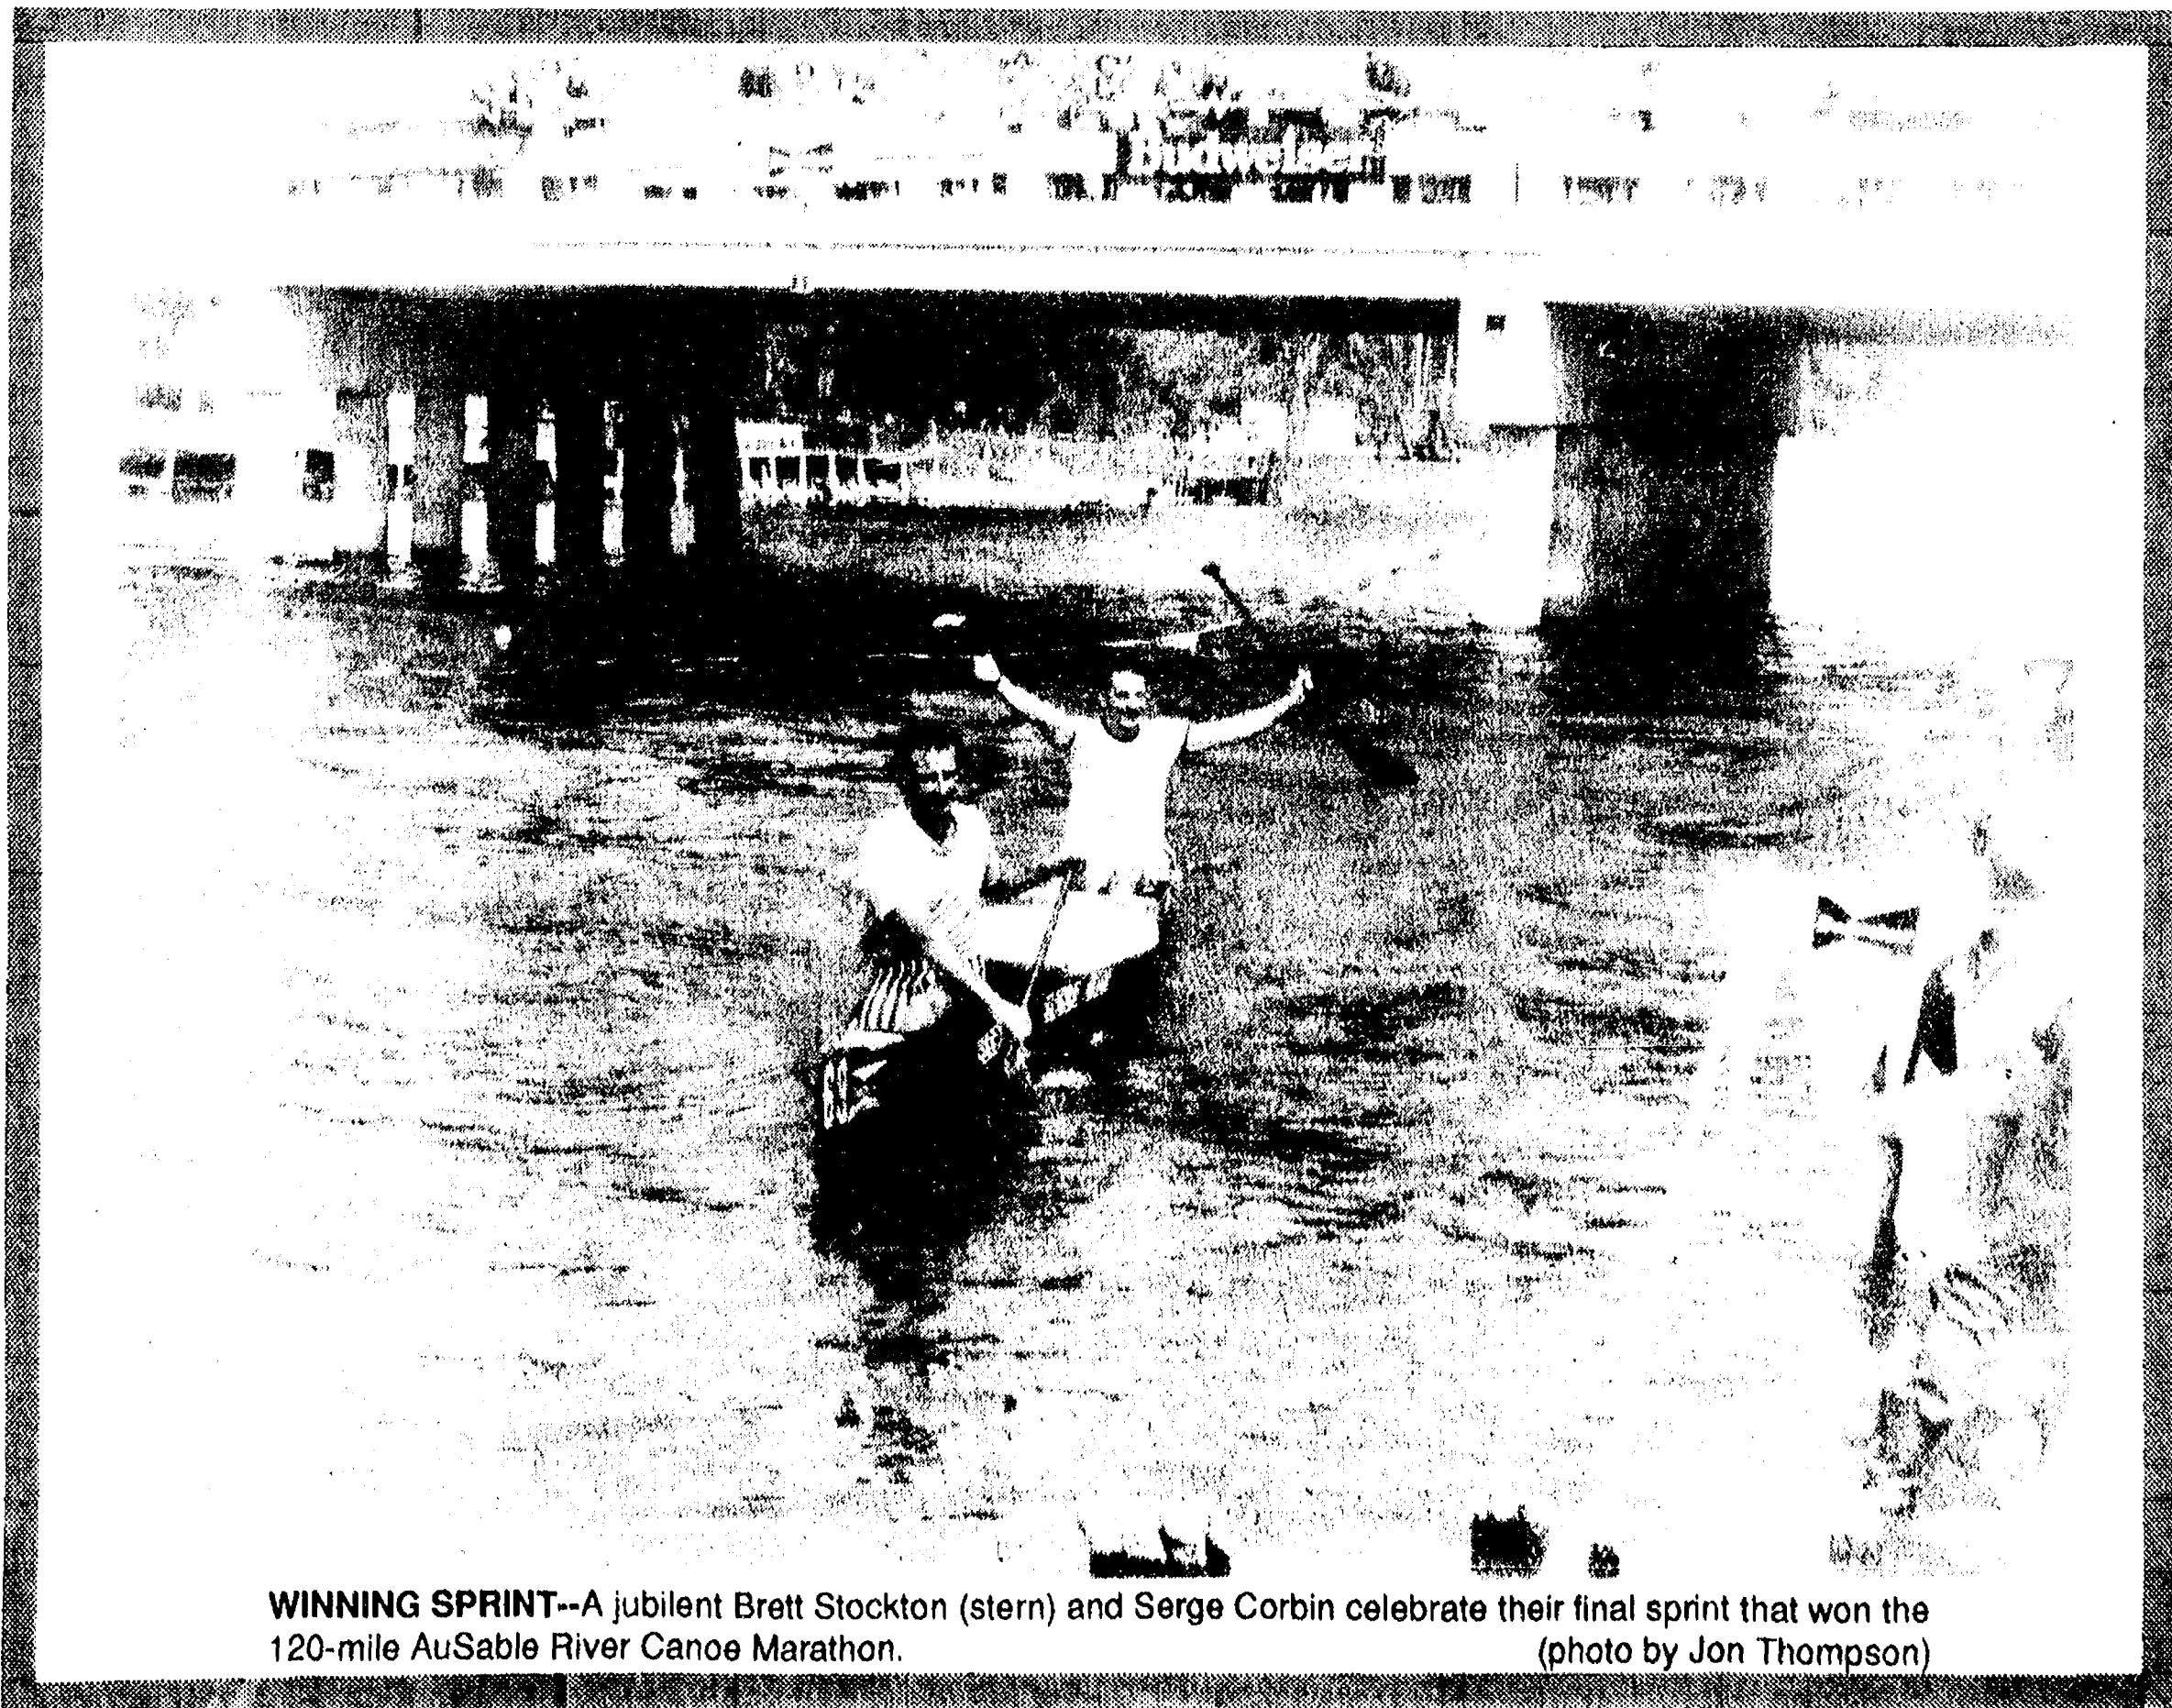

A chicken dinner will be served from 4:30 to 7 p.m. Immediately following is a dance, offering both square dancing and taped music in alternating half-hour segments. A fireworks display closes the day's events at 10 p.m.

A concession stand, run by the Grayling Youth Booster Club, is scheduled for 12 noon to 10 p.m.

On Sunday, a breakfast will be served at the hall from 8 to 11 a.m., with chapel services to follow.

A major part of Heritage Days is the sale of "Memories of Lovells," a collection of stories about the Lovells area. Compiled by the Cheerful Givers Club, the anthology sold out its first 150 copies at $8 each. Another 600 copies will be on sale during the festivities.

Proceeds from Heritage Days will be used toward establishing a permanent archives for Lovells Township.

Summer Food Program For Local Children Needs Help Immediately

By Irene Pettyjohn

"What do the children who receive free and reduced breakfasts and lunches at school eat when school is not in session?"

This question was asked by one member of the Michelson Memorial United Methodist Church last May during a congregational meeting. Since that meeting members of the church have been trying to answer that question.

Sadly, it appears the answer to the question is what ever their families can afford, which may not be the nutritional diet growing children require.

"There are no state or federal programs to supplement the school lunch program available to children in our community," said Dr. Dennis Paulson.

So members of Dr. Paulson's church opened up their wallets and rolled up their sleeves and on July 2, they began providing breakfast and lunch foods to 391 pre-school to high school aged children in the county. The program will continue until August 31.

Estimated cost of the program is $16,000 and the Methodist congregation is inviting area individuals, churches, and civic organizations to participate in the program through their financial support.

Lorna Morse and Bill Greene, with the help of Lorna's husband, George, are busy making the hurriedly planned program work.

Lorna and Bill are the coordinators. Lorna does all the shopping. George and Bill and several volunteers make deliveries to families who lack transportation to come to the church.

The food is ordered in case lots from Glen's Market, who has given the program breaks on their food prices and has donated all the grocery bags. In addition to Glen's Market, Lorna is looking into ordering from Gordon Food Service and has applied to the Genesee County food bank, which is a warehouse that distributes foods to food kitchens and pantries in an area from Flint to Alpena.

"When you have a large family, 391 children," said Lorna, "you buy by the case."

Thirty members of the Methodist church volunteered to help with the program in one day and about $2,000 was donated by the congregation to begin the program. The program has also received a $4,000 FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Act) grant from the United Way, but this is about $10,000 short of what is needed.

In order to learn the needs of the community, the group contacted the Crawford AuSable School District and asked for their help in identifying children for the program. To insure that confidentiality of school records were honored, the school district agreed to send out 240 letters to families of children in grades K-4 who qualified for free or reduced meals during the last school year.

The school used children in grades K-4 in the Grayling and Frederic Elementary Schools as a target group for this summer, explained Lorna. Every child in those families receives food, regardless of their age. Lorna said she hoped they would be able to expand the program next summer to include every child in the county who qualifies because of need.

"Within a week after the letters were mailed, we had received responses from 119 families," said Lorna, "and we have received 141 responses altogether. The quickness of the response and the amount of responses tells me that this program is needed," she said.

One working mother with five children who chooses not to use food stamps, said she was so happy this program was being offered. The mother said she allows her children to participate in the school's free lunch program and feels good knowing her children are receiving the nutritionally balanced meal, but that during the summer, she said she worries about whether she is able to provide adequately.

Another response from an area family said, "Thank you so much for the program, but we find that we can provide for our children at this time. Please give our share to those who need it."

High nutritional breakfast and lunch menus were designed by Kathy Burkley, a licensed dietician, and includes: fresh bread, creamy peanut butter, tuna fish, peaches, fruit cocktail, applesauce, raisins, peas, beans, corn, macaroni and cheese dinner, tomato soup, 2 % milk, pre-sweetened Kool-aid fortified with vitamin C, iron fortified cold cereal (45%), and Franco-American Spaghettios.

The criteria set for the selection foods for this program was that the foods must be 1) foods that children would eat, 2) foods that children can make for themselves, and 3) food that is nutritionally sound.

Nutritionally Poor

Dr. Paulson said Kathy told him that no one in our community is calorie poor, but many are nutritionally poor.

"The kids are eating the wrong foods," said Dr. Paulson, "and in some cases it is because their parents cannot afford the high nutritional foods."

"I have been learning about nutrition as we put together this program," he continued. "Did you know there is very little nutritional value in oatmeal?" he asked. "As a society, we are basically uneducated as to what is nutritional and what isn't."

"It is okay to eat oatmeal," explained Lorna, "but if you don't have enough money to buy fruit to go with it, oatmeal eaten alone does not provide a balanced diet."

Recycling Corner

By Carol Wakeley

If you are involved in recycling, you are probably concerned with other aspects of the environment besides just the garbage problem. Here are some pieces of information that should get everyone's attention.

*There is no such thing as "environmentally safe" or "ozone friendly" aerosols. When the harmful chlorofluorocarbons were removed, they were replaced with volatile organic chemicals that contribute to smog. It is best to use roll-on or solid deodorants. They work better and with less waste than sprays, and are much safer. Shaving cream in tubes and jars are more dense and nicer to the skin than airy foams. Pump hair sprays offer more control than aerosols which tend to spray skin and hair.

*Styrofoam is a trademark of Dow Chemical Corporation. It is made from benzene which is converted into styrene; then gases are added to make it a foam product. Even though the gases used are supposed to be an alternative to chlorofluorocarbons and 95 percent less damaging, they are still a threat to the ozone layer and still add to the smog problem. Styrofoam is 100 percent non-biodegradable and deadly to marine life. As it breaks into little pieces it looks like food. When sea turtles eat this it makes them buoyant. They cannot dive, their systems clog, and they starve.

*During a beach clean-up in Texas, along 300 miles of shore-line, 15,600 six-pack rings were found in 3 hours. They might be convenient, but they are deadly. As they are invisible underwater, animals have no way of avoiding them. Gulls, terns, and other birds that are seen around dumps and recreation areas near oceans may sometimes catch one loop around their necks while fishing and another loop on a stationary object. They drown or strangle. Pelicans have been known to dive right into a six-pack ring while catching fish. Once the ring is stuck on its bill, the bird cannot open its mouth and starves to death. Young seals and sea lions get the rings caught around their necks. As they grow, the rings get tighter and the animals suffocate. Before you throw away these rings snip each circle with scissors. Pick up any you find and do the same. Even though some states are requiring these holders to be photodegradable (to break down in sunlight in 30 days), that does not deal with the problem.

*To make plastic wrap cling, the manufacturers add harmful chemicals that can work their way into food. It is better to store food in reusable containers.

*Coffee filters, paper towels, napkins, even feminine products are white because they are bleached. The process used to bleach creates dioxin, a deadly toxic. You can now buy "Natural Brew" coffee filters at Glen's. They are brown, not white. Through the Seventh Generation catalog you can order paper products that are bleached safely.

*Helium-filled balloons that are released at certain events might be fun to watch, but once they land in water they lose their color and look like jellyfish—especially if they have ribbons or strings on them. Jellyfish are a turtle's favorite food, so you know what happens. Whales have also died from balloons. One single balloon with ribbon attached can block the valve that connects the whale's stomach to its intestine. Balloons that are released in the Midwest can end up in the ocean. During a test, a balloon released in Ohio reached the South Carolina coast in just two days.

*Flea collars are a threat to the environment and to your pet. They contain dangerous pesticides that are absorbed into the system of the animal until its tissue is loaded with the toxin. This paralyzes the fleas but creates permanent nerve damage for your pet. Fifty million flea collars are thrown away every year which creates more environmental hazard. Citrus oil sprays are an alternative to flea collars. So is adding garlic and brewers' yeast to your pets' food.

At the rate we are producing garbage we need 500 new dumps each year. Take your adult weight and multiply by 600. That's how many pounds of garbage you will generate in your lifetime.

Reader Appreciates Special Milltown Edition Supplement

Dear Mr. Thompson:

Congratulations to you and the Avalanche staff for the excellent Milltown supplement (July 19 issue), which contributed so greatly to our understanding of our historical heritage and deepened our respect for the earlier residents.

A. Douglas Graham
P.S. It would be interesting some time to learn how Pere Cheney got its name.

Let's Talk About It By Joe Murphy

I would like to welcome a new business into this area. Signature Landscaping, Mr. Greg Nelson, who has been out in the Vancouver, Washington, area, has returned to Grayling Greg's roots run deep in our Crawford County soil, the Nelson and Cough families have been residents here for about a hundred years. Greg has worked at the landscaping trade for many years and is well qualified in that field. I am sure his mother Jeanette Nelson and grandparents Art and Lillian Cough and Agnes Nelson are happy to have him here. Greg's efforts will only add beauty to our area. Thank you for returning to your old home town and passing your love with us.

If you are thinking about adding some beauty to your property, give Signature Landscaping a chance to show you their skill.

I hope you paid a visit to the Crawford County Fair in spite of far from ideal weather conditions. I seemed to be having a pretty good turnout. Such events are results of a lot of effort by a lot of people. We tend to enjoy such events, then walk away without thinking of the work required to put them on. It is such events drawing people into large groups that are needed to function as a community. The friends or strangers we meet at such events add much to the enjoyment of life. I feel we owe a great deal of thanks to those volunteers who work hard to stage them. We also should attend the results of those efforts whenever possible.

About this time of year when I was a boy, I'd have my salt shaker in my pocket. The garden was my main source of food until fall. Cucumbers, carrots, tomatoes and other goodies were there to forage and I took advantage of it. The woods would be full of berries. I kept myself stuffed on the foods from garden and woods and did not worry much about meal times. Of course, sweet corn had to be cooked, but there was so much to eat available, that Mom often worried because at this time of year I might turn down that second piece of pie. At any other time of year it was unheard of for me to do so.

The old lumber jacks, when they threw away an apple core, wound up starting a tree. The woods around our old farm abounded with apple trees of many varieties. I don't know much about the different varieties, but I do know we had some I never found anywhere else. There was one tree that had the biggest apples I have ever seen. They ran six to eight inches; they were a soft, mellow apple with red streaks through them that made great applesauce. I never did find but that one tree.

Lots of heat, little light

THE CAMPAIGN FOR U.S. Senate in Michigan is getting louder and louder these days, producing an increasing bit of heat, but not much more light.

Much Republican focus seems to be on "Why won't Bill debate?" while the Democratic focus seems to be on portraying the incumbent as just like the guy down the street.

The Republican battle is between U.S. Rep. Bill Schuette of Midland County and Clark Durant, Detroit area attorney. Mr. Schuette is widely considered to have the upper hand.

Mr. Durant has been harping away at Mr. Schuette to meet him in debate. Mr. Schuette has demurred. So Mr. Durant keeps harping away anyway.

BUT REALLY, NOW, why should Mr. Schuette debate with Mr. Durant? If, indeed, he is the front runner, then Mr. Schuette can only lose ground by climbing on stage with Mr. Durant and trading verbal blows.

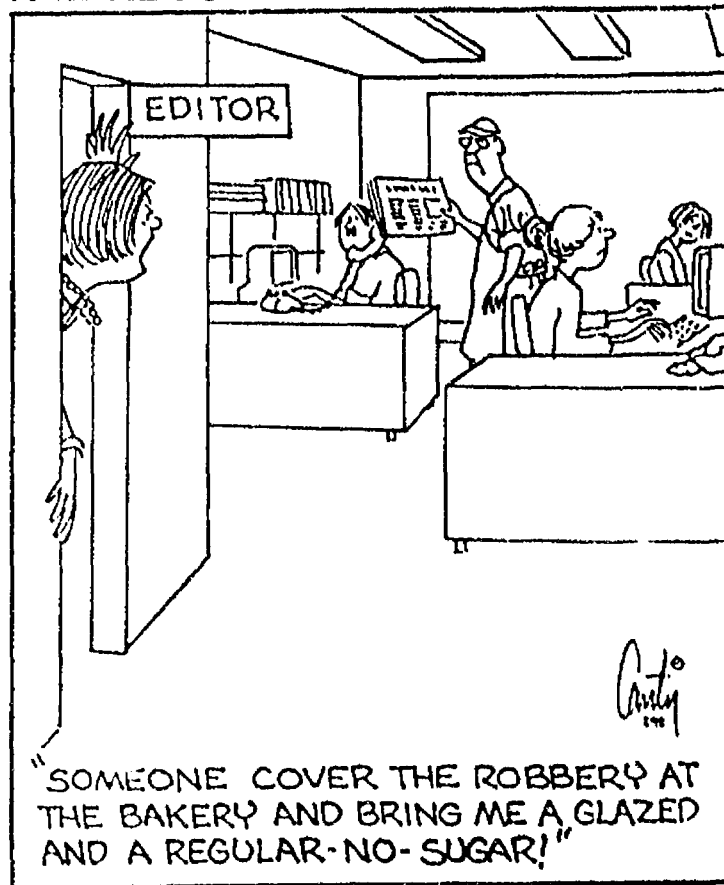

Political debates are no debates at all, in the first place. Instead, they are joint appearances. They provide a chance for the underdog to improve his position, which is probably why Mr. Durant keeps pushing for one. Debates also provide a chance for the front runner to fall on his face, which is probably why Mr. Schuette keeps dodging.

If a Durant-Schuette debate would be held, Mr. Durant would likely spend much of his time pot-shooting at Mr. Schuette, trying to bring him down within range.

Mr. Schuette, having served in Congress for the past six years, would find himself on the defensive; and if he should attack Mr. Durant, he would be in the position of kicking the underdog. Having held public elective public office, Mr. Schuette has a definite voting record to defend; not having held such an office, Mr. Durant has no voting record.

A primary debate between Republicans Schuette and Durant is a no-win situation for Mr. Schuette and a can't-lose situation for Mr. Durant. That's why there probably won't be any debate before the Aug. 7 primary but Mr. Durant will still keep flailing away at what really is a non-issue.

Notes from the Woods

By Nancy Lemmen

A couple of old-timers are sitting together, discussing the array of offensive behaviors displayed by so many people these days.

"Well," draws the first man. "I guess it takes all kinds."
"Nah," growls the second old guy. "It don't TAKE all kinds. There just ARE all kinds."

That anecdote came to mind as I read Carol Wakeley's letter to the editor in the June 14 issue of the Avalanche, and Dave and Linda Greenway's letter the following week.

Carol wrote about the horror of seeing a pet dog shot and killed in her Sherwood Forest neighborhood. Dave and Linda, the owners of the dog, described the agony of losing their pet.

What irony.

I have just lived through perhaps the worst event I'll ever experience — a forest fire that took the lives of my four pets.

Three times I have shared with the readers of this column the lasting pain their tragic deaths have caused — to me, to my husband, to other people who also loved them, to the friends who tried to save them.

I have received several letters from people who read those columns, commiserating with me on my losses or sharing stories of how their animals also died that night.

I was comforted a bit by the realization that there is a body of people out there who care intensely about their own and other people's pets.

Then I read that someone in our own community shot a pet dog — deliberately. I am appalled. The old-timer is right, I think. It doesn't take all kinds; but there, indeed, are all kinds.

Here's the scenario as I've been told: A female dog is in heat. The Greenways' male dog goes to visit her. The owner of the female shoots Greenways' dog.

I try to understand the mind of the person who shot the pet, a border collie named Oakie.

Did he try to keep his female in the house or in a pen, away from other dogs?

Did he call the owners to complain before taking his own drastic action?

Did he call the County Animal Control Officers to report a problem?

Did he consider a more reasonable, humane solution?

Did he know that in shooting the dog he was committing an illegal act?

Did it sadden him to take the life of a living, breathing, feeling creature?

Did he consider that the shooting might accidentally have injured or killed a human being?

Here's his mistake, I believe: You don't shoot a dog for simply acting like a dog. It's not his fault. If you have a gripe, you go to the dog's owner. You say, "My female dog's in heat and your male dog keeps coming into my yard. Let's get this problem solved."

Perhaps the solution is to keep the male tied up or fenced in. Perhaps the solution is to keep the female in the house. Perhaps the solution is some sort of combination of the two.

And consider another very viable solution. Get your dog — male or female — neutered.

Granted, that won't solve your every dog problem. You'll still have dogs that are allowed to run. You'll still have dogs whose owners neglect or abuse them. But you won't have the perennial problem of boy and girl dogs desperate to be together when the females are in heat.

Don't tell me you can't afford to spay or castrate your pet. Our society can't afford — financially or morally — the dreadful pet overpopulation problem we suffer from today.

If you can't afford it, then don't get an animal. If you can't neuter your pet, neither can you probably afford to provide it with nutritious food, take it to the veterinarian for its vaccinations and preventative medication, build it a decent dog house and kennel.

Wait until you're in a financial position to do right by your pet. Any dog or cat certainly deserves that much from you for all the devotion, affection, entertainment, understanding and perhaps protection that it will provide for you.

Don't tell me it's good for a dog to have a litter of puppies — that it brings out their maternal instincts or they don't put on weight or whatever it is you've been told.

That's a myth. Ask your veterinarian if you don't believe me. You'll be told that neutered animals make good, loving pets. You'll be told that neutered animals will not get fat and lazy if you feed and exercise them properly.

If you still have any doubts about neutering your pets, you should know this: Every time your pet is allowed to give birth, you're making your own little contribution to the horrible, senseless, devastating problem of pet overpopulation.

And if you don't believe me about that, call the Crawford County Sheriff Department and ask them how many unwanted, homeless pets their animal control officers must euthanize every month in our county alone.

I guess Dave and I were lucky when our dogs and kitten were alive.

One neighbor told us when he saw Buddy chasing a deer through the woods. We responded by better monitoring of his activities.

Another neighbor told us when Missy and Jody were scaring the deer he fed in his backyard. We responded by walking them on leashes.

A third neighbor told us when Murphy started a fight with his dog. We responded by keeping Murphy away from their home.

Still, our dogs weren't perfect, nor were we. They snuck away to get into mischief whenever we relaxed our surveillance or let them convince us they had outgrown their tendency to roam. However, I think our neighbors knew we tried to be responsible pet owners and cut us some slack a few times.

But that's not what happened on one unhappy summer day in Sherwood Forest.

And as difficult as it is for me to accept the fact that my animals died in a capricious forest fire, it is even more difficult to accept that a fellow human deliberately shot a neighbor's pet dog.

In a world filled with so much random destruction, violence and tragedy, I despair at the realization that we have individuals among us who choose to cause more.

"Budget and policy are the two primary requisites for a road commissioner," said Kraus. "I seek re-election to complete on-going projects, initiate further local road projects and to pursue available funding for better roads in Crawford County."

George Emerson

George Emerson is seeking the Republican nomination for Crawford County Road Commissioner.

Emerson has a background in engineering and holds a degree in business. He retired from the military (corps of engineers) and has been a resident of the county for 14 years. Emerson would bring to the position experience in heavy construction that includes road, bridges, air fields, and building construction.

"I think there are areas in the county that can stand improvement," said Emerson.

Jeannette J. Kitchen

Incumbent Jeannette J. Kitchen (R) is seeking her party's nomination to the Crawford County Board of Commissioners for District 1.

Kitchen has been a resident of the county for 59 years, graduating from Grayling High School. She has taken several courses in Real Estate and Contract Law from Kirtland Community College.

Besides her past experience as a county commissioner, Kitchen is the manager of a small business, has attended numerous workshops on recycling, government budgets and financing, governmental insurance, and jail regulations. She has been a homemaker and mother for 40 years.

"If re-elected," said Kitchen, "I would like to continue promoting recycling, working to keep the county in the black, promoting jobs and new businesses, expanding the Grayling Fish Hatchery and the good attraction this is for the county, and helping the ambulance service to continue and grow into an even better service."

Dennis J. Long

Dennis J. Long is seeking the Republican nomination for County Commissioner for District 1.

Long has attended courses at Michigan State University, Northwestern University of Illinois, and Kirtland Community College. He holds an associate degree in administration.

A career police officer for 18 years, Long has worked as a Grayling City Patrolman for the last six years and prior to that, one year with the Crawford County Sheriff Dept.

"Having been a public servant for most of my adult life, I have developed an awareness and responsibility to the citizens I serve," said Long. "It is my belief that the duty of each commissioner should be to provide for the concerns of those persons residing in the district they represent, and address those concerns and needs to the county board as a whole."

William C. Coy

Incumbent William C. "Bill" Coy is seeking the Republican nomination for the County Commission seat for the 6th District.

Coy is a high school graduate, has attended various military schools, and has taken business management courses at Kirtland. He has been a resident of the county for 11 years.

Besides his experience as a past county commissioner, Coy has served as the Maple Forest Township Supervisor/Assessor, and the state steward for the Michigan National Guard Technicians.

"If re-elected, I will continue to serve the people of this county to the best of my ability," Coy said. "I will also continue working for a balanced budget with no lay-offs, as well as try to continue funded programs now in effect."

Brian Hulbert

Brian Hulbert (R) is seeking his party's support to run for the District 6 seat of the Crawford County Board of Commissioners.

Hulbert was educated in the Crawford AuSable Schools, and has been a resident of the county for 29 years.

He served as a board member of the Baptist Church of Frederic for seven years, the Frederic Fire and Ambulance for four years, and has coached youth sports for five years.

If elected, Hulbert intends "to represent the people of Frederic and Maple Forest in county matters, and to see them get their fair share of county monies and services such as police patrol."

Community Tea To Honor Sister Mary Generose

Sister Generose, a Religious Sister of Mercy, came to Mercy Hospital nine years ago and has served as Hospital Chaplain since that time. She has given thousands of hours of service to Mercy, extending her caring and thoughtful hand to patients, family members, employees, physicians and volunteers at Mercy Hospital. Sister Generose is leaving Mercy so she can care for her parents in Traverse City.

Those wishing to extend a fond farewell to Sister Generose are invited to attend the Community Tea in her honor in the Private Dining Room.

Sunglasses for Windows

It's like putting sunglasses on a window, says David Bibler, about applying Lumar, solar-controlled window films.

The Micro-thin, polyester-mylar films are virtually invisible when properly applied to existing windows.

But the films block up to 80 percent of the heat in summer and retain up to 65 percent of the heat in winter, says Bibler, co-owner of Quality Window Tinting in Traverse City, Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo, with his wife, Judy.

Three types of films -- reflect-tive, non-reflective and Low E series are available, all of which virtually eliminate the ultra-violet rays which cause sun rot, sun fading and sun glare. These films are all covered by a 7-year warranty.

Quality Window Tinting also installs solar control film on motor homes and passenger vehicles. All installations come with a lifetime guarantee.

TO THE GAS CUSTOMERS OF CMS GAS TRANSMISSION COMPANY AND INTERESTED PARTIES

THE FOLLOWING IS PUBLISHED BY DIRECTION OF THE MICHIGAN PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION IN CASE NO. U-9629

NOTICE OF HEARING

On May 9, 1990, CMS Gas Transmission Company (CMS) filed an application with the Michigan Public Service Commission (Commission) for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to construct and operate the Antrim Pipeline in Otsego, Crawford and Kalkaska counties.

CMS is a Michigan corporation with principal offices located at Fairlane Plaza South, 330 Town Center Drive, Suite 1100, Dearborn, Michigan, and is a wholly owned subsidiary of CMS Enterprises Company which is a subsidiary of CMS Energy Corporation.

CMS proposes to construct the Antrim Pipeline of approximately 24.8 miles, which would consist of approximately 8.8 miles of 12-3/4 inch, and 16 miles of 8-5/8 inch outside diameter (O.D.) steel pipe. The pipeline would extend from Chester Township, Otsego County approximately 16 miles westerly to the Great Lakes Pipeline right-of-way in Hayes Township, Otsego County, and southerly 8.8 miles to a point of interconnection with an existing Consumers Power Company 12-3/4 inch O.D. pipeline in Blue Lake Township, Kalkaska County.

CMS states that the gas to be transported would be owned by the purchasers and/or producers of the gas. CMS expects that 25 million standard cubic feet (MMcf) per day would initially be transported to market through the pipeline, and that future development and exploration in the area could increase that volume to 50 MMcf per day. CMS states that firm transportation services would be offered on a first-come, first-served basis at a rate estimated to be 14 to 19 cents per thousand cubic feet (Mcf). Interruptible transportation service would also be available.

CMS states that the proposed pipeline will be constructed, tested and operated in accordance with requirements of the Michigan Gas Safety Code.

CMS' filing is available for inspection at the offices of the Commission's Executive Secretary, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, Michigan, and at the offices of CMS Gas Transmission Company, Fairlane Plaza South, 330 Town Center Drive, Suite 1100, Dearborn, Michigan.

Jurisdiction is pursuant to 1929 PA 9, as amended, MCLA 483.101 et seq; 1919 PA 419, as amended, MCLA 480.51 et seq; 1939 PA 3, as amended, MCLA 460.1 et seq; 1969 PA 165, MCLA 483.151 et seq; 1970 PA 127, MCLA 691.1201 et seq; 1969 PA 306, as amended, MCLA 24.201 et seq; and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 1979 Administrative Code, R 460.11 et seq.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that: A public hearing in this matter will be held at 9:00 AM on August 14, 1990 before Administrative Law Judge Albert G. Landa in the offices of the Commission, 6545 Mercantile Way, Lansing, Michigan. The hearing will be in the nature of a prehearing conference and will be held for the purpose of considering matters which will expedite this proceeding. Any interested persons may attend the hearing and participate, subject to the provisions of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure.

B. Any person seeking to intervene in accordance with Rule 11 of the Rules of Practice and Procedure Before the Commission shall file with this Commission, on or before August 9, 1990, an original and 15 copies of a Petition to Intervene, with a Proof of Service indicating service upon CMS Gas Transmission Company's Attorney, Mr. Anthony A. Targan, Fairlane Plaza South, 330 Town Center Drive, Suite 1100, Dearborn, MI 48126.

Bits of Talk

By Fay Bovee

Henrietta Bear would like to say hello to her friends in Grayling. If anyone would like to write, she would like to hear from you. Her address is 1804 S.W. 35th Place, Gainesville, FL, 32608.

The Crawford County Historical Museum has been visited this summer by people from 30 different states and six different countries. They have had a lot of positive comments about the museum. And a lot of you in Grayling haven't even been down to visit! Come on down, any day but Sunday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Kerry and Nancy and Nancy Marie Clough of Evergreen, Colorado, arrived last Thursday to visit his parents, Art and Lillian Clough, for a week. They helped celebrate the Clough's 63rd wedding anniversary with a family dinner at the Iron Gate restaurant.

Michael and Ricky Kelly, Mike and Corine, of McMinnville, Oregon, will be here this week to attend her class reunion. Mike and Alice Nelson of Grand Prairie, Texas, and Mark and Cheryl Nelson, Eric and Elizabeth, of Birch Run, will all be visiting their mother, Mrs. Jeannette Kitchen.

Dr. Linda Knibbs of Springfield, Illinois, and her mother, Mary Jane Knibbs, spent some time the week before last at Mackinac Island, where Linda was attending a conference. Linda returned to Grayling to spend the week at Lake Margrethe with her mother.

Mrs. Ruth Robertson had a surprise at 4:00 one afternoon last week when she looked out her window and discovered her son, John Robertson and his son, Danny, of South Haven, coming across her lawn with a crate of blueberries for her. They flew up, took the Dial-a-ride to her home, giving away most of one crate of blueberries to the driver and other passengers on the way. They visited for an hour and left for home again.

Mary Liz McNamara and two sons, Casey and Noah, of Watchung, New Jersey, visited her parents, Larry and Mo McNamara for a week. Her husband was unable to come at this time. Riley McNamara of Wheeling, Illinois, spent a weekend recently with his parents. The weekend before last, Mo and Larry visited their other daughter, Shannon, and husband, Mike Verklín, in Plymouth.

Young Children Attend Camp

Once a year for seven days the little people, ages 8 and 9, come to Camp AuSable. There are 170 children present which includes the five from the Grayling area who were selected to attend free of charge, expenses being paid by the local Seventh-day Adventist Church. They arrived Sunday with parents or guardians who will return next Sunday for their children.

For many this is their first experience in being away from home. Counselors will serve as Fathers and Mothers during this camping experience. It is a common sight to see counselors walking the trails of roads holding hands with one or two campers. It is thrilling to note how soon campers and counselors bond to each other and before the week is over there is talk about writing to one another as pen pals. Activities range from the water front where they engage in canoeing, skiing, swimming, and sailing to archery, horse back and 4-wheel riding on the trails that wind through the forest. Then there are nature classes in the study of rocks, shells, sand, reptiles, amphibians, mosses, and ferns, plus crafts where they make belts or billfolds of leather, baskets, ceramics, rockets, or decorate T-shirts.

The pastor, Elder Paul Howell, conducts morning worship for the staff at 7, speaks to the campers in Camp Council and closes the evening Campfire program with an appropriate story, anecdote, or sermonette. On Saturday Bill Edsell will present the Sabbath morning sermon.

The staff present the Campfire programs on the general theme, "The Kingdom of God." Sub topics include, "The Last Leaf" and "The Pearl of Great Price."

Thursday evening staff and campers have a picnic supper near the coral. This is followed by the Rodeo in which selected individuals participate. Brenton Bullock leads the parade on Chester. The flag is posted and all pledge allegiance. Contests are in pole bending, flag relay, barrel race, ribbon race, and baton relay.

Two weeks are left in the summer camping season. These are for the handicapped and blind.

Levin Calls Guard A Sound Investment

"A sound investment." That's how high-ranking Senate Armed Services Committee member Carl Levin (D-Mich.) described the National Guard forces, after watching Camp Grayling units on maneuvers here.

After spending Saturday morning, July 21, on the base and in a helicopter during the base-wide operations, Levin said that recent changes in Eastern Europe mean "we can safely reduce our active duty, regular forces."

"But it also means a greater reliance on the Guard and our reserve forces."

The National Guard, he added, "is a lot less costly than regular military forces, and they do a superb job."

Levin said the Camp Grayling maneuvers demonstrated "both the efficiency and the ability of our Guard and Reserve to maintain the strength of our conventional forces."

He predicted that 50,000 regular troops will be brought home from Europe this year, as part of a Senate-mandated overall cut of about 100,000. "But we also need to be prepared for contingencies," Levin noted. "One important, cost-effective way to be prepared for any future threats is by maintaining a tough, well-trained National Guard."

Levin said he talked to the troops "about some of the changes that are taking place in the world, and how those changes will impact on the National Guard."

He also took note of the new waste disposal facility under construction at the site, as well as an area that's being proposed for a new firing range. Other discussions involved reducing noise levels at Camp Grayling. Levin said he's working on getting a new rocket-launcher on the base, to replace the older, much louder eight-inch artillery now in use.

Four Reasons to Vote for Jim Dunn for U.S. Congress

Experience to Start on Day One.

Jim Dunn is the only congressional candidate who has already served Michigan with distinction in the United States Congress.

Knows the Value of Hard Work.

Jim and his wife, Gayle, started a small construction business designing homes around their kitchen table.

Commitment to Better Education.

As a Congressman, Jim Dunn took action and successfully restored harmful cuts in educational programs. Today, students all over the country still benefit because of Jim's work.

Seniors Can Count on Jim Dunn.

Jim Dunn is the only congressional candidate to propose a comprehensive tax equity plan that would lower the effective tax rate on our working senior citizens.

"As the father of three, I'm concerned that our children have the same opportunities for a quality education, a good job, and a better way of life right here in Mid-Michigan... That's why I'm running for Congress."

Verse or Worse

By Joe Murphy

THE WILL

The old man had finally died
Today his lawyer would read his will
His two heirs were very sure
There would be a big wad in the till

They were not really the old man's children
He had been their step dad
But they were sure that they would get
All that wealth the old man had

He old man had worked hard all this life
To earn the wealth that would be revealed today
The heirs were thinking of all the fun
For which the old man's wealth would pay

They had both lived a wastrel's life
Just waiting for this day
Sure they would have untold wealth
When the old man passed away

But when the lawyer started reading the will
Their faces blanched with alarm
Was just a working farm.

The will even stipulated
That the farms could not be sold
And only as long as they worked the farms
Would they their titles hold

The rest of his wealth he left to charity
They couldn't break the will though they tried
They had to go to working for a living
And cursing the day that old man died.

Your Social Security

Self-employed people will find significant changes in computing their 1990 Social Security taxes. Both the Social Security tax rate and the formula used to compute the taxes changed this year.

The 1990 tax rate for self-employed people is 15.3 percent, up from 1989's 15.2 percent rate. In 1989, a 2 percent credit reduced the effective tax rate to 13.2 percent.

Beginning with the 1990 tax year, the credit has been replaced by two new deductions which reduce the tax liability for the self-employed. The new deductions are designed to treat the self-employed in much the same manner as employers and employees are treated for tax purposes. For many self-employed people, the result will be lower taxes than in previous years.

Internal Revenue Service Publication 505, Tax withholdings and Estimated Tax, provides detailed information on the change in computing 1990 self-employment Social Security taxes. Contact the Internal Revenue Service for copies of this publication.

Additional information is available from Social Security. Call 1-800-234-5772 and ask for Factsheet Number 4, if you're self-employed. The Traverse City Social Security office is located at 1111 E. Front Street. Business hours are 9:00 - 4:30, Monday through Friday, except national holidays.

A representative is at the Court House in Grayling on the first and third Tuesday of each month, 10:30 - 2:00. There is no phone service at this location. Callers may use the toll-free number.

Resource Review

Bruce Patrick Conservation Officer

In addition to its well known registration and personal flotation device requirements, the Marine Safety Act (Act 303, 1967) sets forth other water craft rules of which many people are unaware.

Some of these guidelines are referred to as "Rules of the Road" and are similar to rules related to the operation of a motor vehicle.

For example, when two vessels are approaching head on, or nearly so, the vessels shall pass on the port side of each other. Another example is when one vessel is overtaking another, it is to pass on the port side of the first vessel. And when vessels are approaching each other at an angle the vessel which has the other on its starboard side shall yield right-of-way.

(If you have problems understanding what "port" and "starboard" mean, just remember that port and left have four letters and mean the same, while starboard and right both have more than four letters. Hence, if two boats meet at an angle at an imaginary watery intersection, the one on the right has the right-of-way.)

Further, a motor boat shall give way to a vessel which is under sail or powered by other than mechanical means.

Even when a vessel has the right-of-way, the operator must show due regard for the safety of all others using the waters involved.

Pet Care Tip

Support the local, state and national humane societies of your choice. These groups rescue strays, prevent animals from falling into the hands of cruel experimenters, and find homes for abandoned and lost domestic animals.

Locally, the Crawford County Animal Shelter performs these functions and deserves the active support of the community.

I would suspect that any lake, pond or marsh, as well as our local streams, provide suitable habitat for the Great Blue Heron. Great Blues are found from Nova Scotia to Mexico, but are only one member in a family of 13 species. They are territorial loners who stalk shallow waters with slow, ever-careful steps or with steady patience. While a Heron's body may not be very long, it can have a wing span of over six feet during flight. When a Heron is on the wing, it pulls its long neck into an S-shaped curve and tucks it between its wings.

Heron's sport a peculiar type of feather called powder-down, which frays continually at the tip, producing a powder that is distributed over their other feathers. The powder-down absorbs oil, grease and slime from the feathers.

They are loners during most of the year, but form large colonies (rookeries) during the breeding season. They nest in tree tops in this area and their large flat nests of weeds and sticks may harbor two to six pale green eggs for the 25-day incubation period. Both parents share the incubation and feeding duties. They feed almost constantly during the day on small fish, but will also feed upon frogs, snakes, insects, small birds and mammals. The Heron's call is a harsh "krunk-krunk," usually heard in the evening.

Reverend Brian Snider, veteran Assemblies of God missionary to Japan, will be the featured speaker at Grayling Assembly of God located across from the airport, on Wed., August 1, at 7 p.m. according to Reverend Ron Voelker, pastor.

Brian and his wife, Sally, have already enjoyed a diverse ministry among the people of the Far East. They each worked independently through the Assemblies of God's Mobilization and Placement Service (MAPS), a program designed to meet missions related needs through volunteer service.

The public is invited to hear the Sniders. Their presentation will offer encouraging reports of evangelistic outreach in the Far East and will give the listener an opportunity for prayerful participation in global missions.

The Bible Speaks

Is Marxism Dead?

Though Marxism has failed economically and politically under the name "Communism," the moral and spiritual backbone of Marxism is alive and well internationally. Christian Political Theology A Marxian Guide, by Joseph Petulla, printed by Orbis Books, Maryknoll, N.Y., gives the grand plan for conquering the world for Marxism through the name of Christianity. He said, "...Men do not act, much less act publicly and politically, outside of the influence of belief systems and symbols. The foundation of political activity is a 'fiduciary framework,' theistic or not; and it has been my contention that many Christian teachings and symbols inspire political activity in principle and can lead to a Marxian view of social change in particular." - page 227.

Petulla represents the thousands of liberal theologians already trained in Marxist philosophy and doing their part to bring in a one-world government. Petulla traces the development of Marxist thought from Marx and Engels through Lenin, Castro, Guevara, and Mao Tse-Tung. He said, "My contention is that Christianity and Marxism share a basic outlook or commitment perspective, on the question of man's alienation and liberation, which justifies the theologian's use of a Marxian analysis." - page 2,3. The goal is clear, "Marx thought that it should be the purpose of philosophy to change the world; I contend that political theology should adopt this intention." - page 5. Petulla hates the authoritarianism of Bible-believing Christians. He said, "In Christianity the tendency to allow one group, environment, style of life, or ideology to rule over the whole person, excluding the rest of the pluralist world of man, represents the concupiscent proclivity to sin. To hold that there is only one way to live, one religion to embrace, one ideology to follow, one science to learn, one country to serve, one road to 'revolution,' etc. is to hold naive, destructive, sinful propositions." - page 240.

While branding Bible Christianity as narrow and sinful, Petulla praises Jewish atheist Ernst Bloch and others who hold to a variety of different interpretations of how Christian "symbols," "myths," "rites," moral codes," can be applied to the promotion of international Marxism. - pages 26,227,232, and 233.

While Communism crumbles and politicians are dethroned, it seems ironic that these same liberal clergy who heaped money, moral support, and motivation upon the communist revolutionaries are now allowed to escape any responsibility or criticism for their action. Like worms they hide in the woodwork awaiting another opportunity to succeed.

DECISIONS and CHOICES

God chooses to give us life. That is God's decision. How we live it and what we decide to do with it, that is our choice.

God is for us. He loves us. God is on our side. He cares for us. Even though God asks some hard, sometimes incomprehensible things of us, we should trust God's wisdom, power and greatness. We may not always totally understand God's final decisions or the difficult choices we have to face.

Each of us is responsible for his or her own actions. It is important that we make the right decisions and choices. It is a test of deciding and choosing right from wrong. The decisions we make today will ultimately be the choices we will have to live with tomorrow.

Let your relationship with God be your guide. Choose to worship in His house this week.

Bits of Talk

By Fay Bovee

Mike Gardner and Betty Loth have returned to Grayling after two extensive bike trips. The first one was a 500-mile trip in seven days going from Land O'Lakes to Prairie du Chien, Wisconsin. Jim and Cindy Scott of Higgins Lake were also among the 600 people who biked. The second trip that Betty and Mike took was a 300-mile mountain bike tour on old jeep trails in Colorado with 12 other people.

A correction in last week's item about the Corwins visiting Leta Babbitt in Kalama-zoo. It was Arthur 'Happy' Corwin that visited her, not Charles Jr., as stated. Sorry.

Thank You

I would like to thank those who sent beautiful cards and flowers. Dr. Rosie and nurses at Mercy Hospital while I was a patient.
